Negro Baseball Star Is Welcomed by Whites

ALAMO, Calif. (AP) — Negro baseball star Curt Flood and his family settled into their leased $35,000 house today after a warm greeting from their white neighbors instead of the loaded shotgun they had been warned to expect.

The St. Louis Cardinals center fielder has all smiles. His pregnant wife wept for joy.

"We think it's so fine you are here," said Mrs. Joseph Cone of Alamo, located 15 miles east of Oakland, Calif., as the Floods moved in Tuesday with the aid of a court order. "Especially since you have four children. We live just around the corner."

"I don't see anything wrong with them," said Mrs. Dan Sweeney. "My kids are thrilled. They hope he'll teach them to play baseball better."

The welcomes and a waiting, fully prepared meal reduced Flood's wife, Beverly, 25, to tears.

"I'm all choked up. We wanted a country atmosphere, a place where our kids could expand. When we saw this house, we knew it was what we wanted," Mrs. Flood said.

Flood is a native of the area and was graduated from Oakland Technical School. His wife is from St. Louis.

Moving day for the Floods included assistance from a locksmith and the sheriff of Contra Costa County.

The sheriff and 11 deputies searched the home, presumably to see if it was safe before Flood and his wife moved in. The locksmith opened the locked house by drilling a hole in a back door, then changed all the locks for the Floods.

The Floods planned to stay with their children, Debbie, 7; Gary, 6; Curtis Jr., 4, and Shelley, 3, in an Oakland motel until their furniture arrives and utilities are turned on.

Flood, 26, obtained a temporary court restraining order Monday to be able to occupy the three-bedroom ranch-style house at Alamo, a quiet suburb of 1,791 persons.

The Floods' attorney said in a suit that George Finn and an unnamed man had brandished shotguns at the home Saturday night and told Phyllis Schofield, a real estate agent, that they would shoot any Negroes who tried to move into the neighborhood.

Officers said Cupp, listed as a minor, passed out as they were taking him to the hospital where he was admitted for observation.

OSP Frowns On Vandalism At Halloween

Thoughtless and irresponsible Halloween pranksters who commit acts of vandalism on state highways can expect no leniency from the Ohio State Patrol, it was announced today by Sgt. S. L. Adomaitis of the local OSP post.

"Our highways are for driving and we cannot tolerate those who deliberately add to the problems of modern fast moving traffic," the sergeant said.

He also asked full cooperation of parents in not only preventing dangerous Halloween acts but also in helping to protect the "small fry."

Sgt. Adomaitis urged parents to guide their children in safe walking practices and to make sure they do not wear masks or costumes that endanger their lives by obscuring their vision or making them difficult to see by motorists.

Parents are to endorse the report card and have the student return it by Friday morning, following distribution each grading period on Wednesday.

The superintendent also pointed out that honor roll students must receive at least a B in all academic subjects in addition to a "satisfactory" mark in conduct and effort.

SS Disability Insurance Benefits Will Go to 300

About 300 disabled people and dependents in the Pickaway-Ross County area will become eligible for social security disability insurance benefits or will have benefits they are now receiving increased, according to Alton E. Swanson, social security district manager.

The benefits and increases are provided by a new amendment to the social security law which changes the rule for setting the date on which a worker's "period of disability" started.

The new law removes a time limit which went into effect in July 1962 and permits the beginning of the "period of disability" for benefit purposes to be set at the time the worker actually became disabled. The change does not liberalize the requirements of the law in any way except to permit the actual date of disability to be recognized, Swanson pointed out. It affects only people who worked under social security for at least five of the ten years before they became disabled and who applied after July 2, 1962, or have not yet applied.

"We have the names and addresses of those who applied and we either have already written to them or we will within a few days," Swanson said. "They do not need to take any action right away, but if they do not hear from us within two weeks they should call or write us."

"On the other hand," Swanson emphasized, "there may be many former workers who are now disabled but who have never asked at the social security office to find out whether they may be eligible for social security disability insurance benefits. Some people did not apply because they realized that they were not eligible since they had waited beyond the time limit for filing an application. Others may not have heard about disability benefits. We want to hear from them as soon as possible."

Increases in benefits now being paid will be retroactive to November 1963 and will be paid with the checks to be delivered early in December. People newly eligible for benefits because of the amendment will receive back payments to November 1963 if they apply before the end of November 1964.

Color of the grade cards will change with each six-week grading period, beginning with yellow cards today. All grades earned will be on the single card, he noted, along with conduct and effort grades.

HOWEVER, he said, conduct will be marked "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" and effort will be graded "outstanding," "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory." Academic subjects will be graded A-F.

A space is provided on each card that may be checked by a particular instructor if a conference with parents is deemed necessary to discuss particular problems.

Parents are to endorse the report card and have the student return it by Friday morning, following distribution each grading period on Wednesday.

The superintendent also pointed out that honor roll students must receive at least a B in all academic subjects in addition to a "satisfactory" mark in conduct and effort.

Parents are to endorse the report card and have the student return it by Friday morning, following distribution each grading period on Wednesday.

Protecting Leaders

If civilization is progressing, it is not evident in the security of heads of state the world over. The United States is not the only nation to witness within the last year the swiftness with which a fanatic can take the life of a leader.

Although successful and attempted assassinations are not new in political history, their frequency does not seem to be lessening as man progresses into what he likes to think is a higher plane of life. Seldom has the world been as universally conscious of the physical dangers faced by public figures as it is today.

In the United States, frequent concern is expressed over the daily exposure both Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater feel is necessary to carry their messages to the voters. The President, in particular, would seem to be taking undue chances with the national leadership by his penchant for thrusting into an open crowd for a session of handshaking, in view of the vacancy of the vice presidency.

In this same hemisphere, unprecedented security precautions were taken for the Queen of England on her visit to Canada, especially in the province of Quebec where a strong secessionist sentiment exists.

In Latin America, similarly frantic safeguards have been taken for the life of President Charles De Gaulle. The French leader, on a tour of 20 South American republics, was subjected to at least one out-of-control demonstration in Argentina by followers of former Dictator Juan Peron.

Certainly the frank admission in the Warren commission report that, in the final analysis, no security net thrown around a president can be fully effective, has temporarily at least heightened concern for the safety of national candidates in the willy-nilly exposure of a political campaign, both here and abroad.

It is not a comforting thought to know that no major power has suffered as many assassinations as the United States in its 188-year history. This is one inescapable fact which should temper the judgment of the President and his successors in matters of public exposure.

Barber Poll

All the candidates have their own personal surveying systems and the press has an assortment. But there are a few die-hards around who each four years prefer Harry Rich's "Barbershop Poll."

Rich, a barber in Washington's Madison Hotel, each four years sends out ballots to more than 5,000 barbershops in 48 states (all except Alaska and Hawaii). He figures that he needs no "scientific cross-section" because he knows that "every guy gets a haircut once in a while" and most women vote as their husbands do.

Rich says his poll has been accurate for every presidential election since he began it in 1928 — which if true is a better record than any of the professional pollsters can point to.

The Barbershop Poll shows Johnson leading Goldwater, but not by the margins shown in other surveys. Rich finds a 7-to-5 ratio. Figured by electoral votes, Johnson would get 310 with 270 required to be elected.

Well, amateur polls are full of pitfalls. But some of the scientific variety do not have much of a record either. About all any of them does is add a bit of spice to the main event in November — and a possible opportunity afterward to poke fun at the brave pollsters who stuck their neck out.

Dead Hulk of Communism

By John Chamberlain

When the first news of the wheat deal with Soviet Russia broke a year ago, my friend, Dr. Bela Fabian, head of the Hungarian Freedom Fighters in New York, said "You cannot save Khrushchev. Nobody can save Khrushchev." I asked him why he thought so. He answered in one word, "Sabotage."

Well, Khrushchev is gone, and columnist Victor Riesel calls attention to a report of the U. S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee which says that the Soviet industrial machine is in such chaotic shape that half the stuff it manufactures breaks down within months. Meanwhile, everything that can be gleaned about agriculture behind the Iron Curtain attests to a continuing slowdown on the part of the peasants.

This information points to a most curious state of affairs. For if there was one thing certain about the character of Nikita Khrushchev, it is that he would have liked to do something to make himself a hero in the eyes of the consuming masses. Within the confines of the Communist ideological straitjacket, which he did not dare discard, he tried every dodge he could think of in his attempt to create plenty. He went to Iowa to learn the secrets of American agriculture, and returned home to call for better fertilizing methods. In Hungary he extolled the virtues of goulash, and virtually promised that he would henceforward use "goulash, not guns as his international watchword. He ripped up the virgin lands of Kazakhstan, hoping to double the Soviet grain crop. But nothing worked out well for him, for he was unable to make a socialistic economic machine work.

The question now arises whether the people who would not put forth energy to help a leader who was obviously well disposed toward them will work for anybody else. And in common sense the answer to this must be "No." The sabotage will go on.

This, to my mind, is as sure as a demonstration in Euclidean geometry. What has happened in Moscow is that the nominal directors in Russian society, the army, the secret police and the Communist Central Committee, have had to do what any capitalist corporation or major league baseball team does in extremity. The Soviet "manager" has been fired.

But though they have reacted in very similar ways, the men who fired Khrushchev are not really in the same position as the men who fired Yogi Berra. In a competitive world the New York Yankees can recruit new baseball talent to make a new manager look good. But the nominal rulers of Russia have no minor leagues, no farm systems, in which to hunt for talent. The talent has, out of apathetic dislike for Communism itself, gone and sabotaged its own potential.

What is left in Russia is the dead hulk of an ideology. The nominal bosses — the army, the secret police, the Central Committee cannot produce anything without the people. These people have won a silent victory, and the colorless bureaucrats — Brezhnev, Kosygin, Suslov — will soon find this out.

As my friend Bela Fabian says, Communism is dead in Russia, but nobody dares sign the death certificate. When Lenin arrived at the Finland Station in Petrograd some forty-eight years ago, he set a revolution in motion by saying three words, "Land, bread, peace." Today, despite Khrushchev's obvious good — will toward them, the Russian peasants still have no title to land, the people are starved for bread, and the prospects for peace in the world of the Chinese A-bomb are dim. They are talking now of giving a "consumer orientation" to Communism by introducing the so-called Liberman system of letting the "market" decide what products should be made. But a free "market" must mean competitive access to raw materials and labor, which would be profoundly disruptive of Communism. For example, who, under the Liberman system, would remain on the land?

It comes down to the question of who in Russia dares sign the death certificate of Communism. Until it is signed — amid what intellectual chaos we can only imagine — the sabotage will go on. In a nation of saboteurs nobody could save Khrushchev. And nobody can save Brezhnev, Kosygin or Suslov as long as they remain loyal to an unworkable system.

ARTIST PETER ARNO once bet the late Fred Allen that he could do a recognizable caricature of him in less than thirty seconds. He did it too—with exactly five lines—adding, "I could have done it in three, if it hadn't been for those bags under your eyes!"

The wife of the stingiest man in a Western TV station gave birth to twin boys, and the father, in a rareburst of generosity, announced, "If anybody has a cigar, I'll be happy to light it for him."

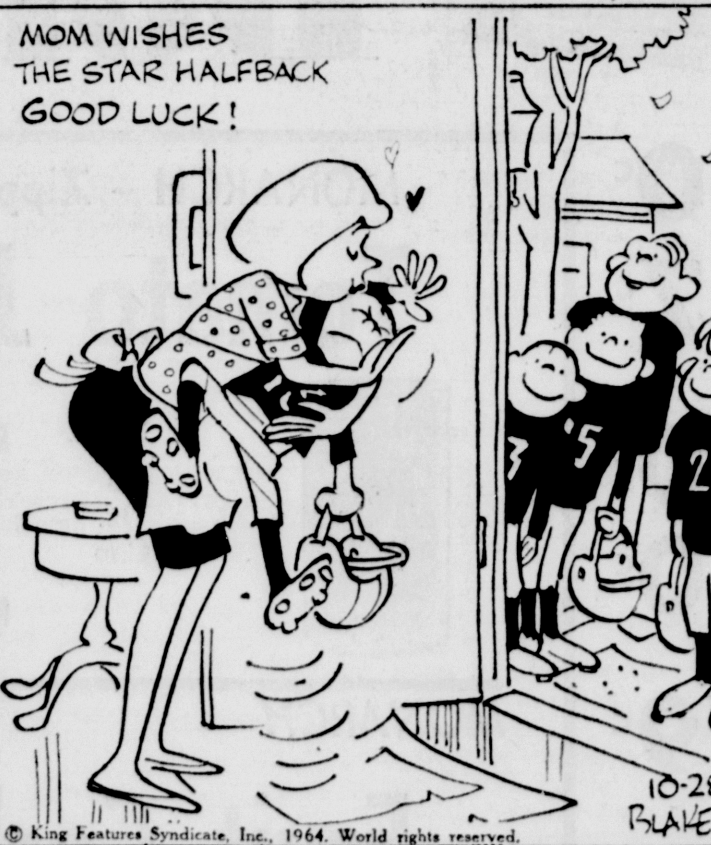

Sighs Zsa Zsa Horntoot: "When I was a girl, folks who missed a stagecoach were content to wait a couple of days for the next one. Now my son Michael blows his top if he misses one section of a revolving door."

EVER HAPPEN TO YOU?

By Blake

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is there a normal period of time for convalescence after surgery for appendix, gall bladder or prostate?

Convalescence is a period of recuperation of energy and vitality which is temporarily decreased by illness, surgery, anesthesia and hospitalization.

The time required for complete recovery varies with each individual. Age, general physical condition, the severity of the operation and the emotional attitude of the patient are all factors which affect the length of convalescence.

Some patients feel they are "ready to go" the day after major surgery. Others take weeks and even months to regain their energy and resume normal activity.

There is no standard timetable for convalescence. The individual himself can usually judge when his body is again in condition for full performance. Under the physician's supervision, the "back-to-work" date can be established.

Can there be harmful effects from the continued use of diet pills that curb the appetite? Pills that kill the appetite are also stimulants to the heart and general body functions.

These pills sometimes increase the heart rate, raise the blood pressure and produce marked nervousness and irritability. Their use is definitely forbidden in some circulatory conditions.

Diet pills must never — but never — be taken without the specific suggestion and guidance of a physician.

Is there any new type of operation for the removal of cataracts?

The extraction of eye cataracts can now be successfully performed by cryosurgery. This technique uses an instrument filled with extremely cold liquid nitrogen.

Removal of a cataract by this new method has some advantages in certain cases. But cryosurgery, or cold surgery, is not used in all cases.

The discriminating judgment of the surgeon will determine which surgical technique is best for each individual patient.

Can the mumps gland become swollen without having mumps?

There are two "mumps" or parotid glands, one on either side of the face. Both produce saliva, vital for the digestion of food.

The parotid gland can become infected and swollen not only by the mumps virus, but by other bacteria as well.

Sometimes a small stone may form in the tube through which saliva passes into the mouth. This causes a backing up of saliva that results in a temporary swelling of the parotid gland.

NEW YORK (AP)—The newly settled General Motors strike has left scars.

The automobile and allied industries may be quite a while getting rid of them. The national settlement of the month-long work stoppage was the best possible news for the economy. It meant that business again can go full speed ahead.

However, it is likely to be some time before GM can get back into the full swing of turning out automobiles. Local issues were yet to be settled at some plants and with those facilities still on strike production will be delayed.

As for the strike's effects, it was estimated that it meant $7 million a day in lost wages and buying power and cost GM the production of 100,000 cars a week. This loss of production came just at the time when new models were beginning to go to dealers.

The dealers saw their supplies of new cars vanish in the face of heavy demand. They felt that many of the lost sales will never be recovered but went to other manufacturers. Ford and Chrysler, which reached agreements with the United Auto Workers Union earlier, kept on producing.

New car sales in mid-October sagged well below a year earlier totaling 164,306 against 211,980, a loss of 23 per cent.

Most of the loss was in GM sales, which fell 51 per cent to 56,106 from 113,488 a year earlier. On the other hand, Chrysler sales gained 23 per cent and Ford 12 per cent. Suppliers of materials for cars — steel, rubber, glass, etc. — lost business while GM was shut down. They, too, may be slow in regaining it.

The domestic automobile manufacturers' hopes of an 8-million car production year were set back, according to the Value Line Investment Survey, an investment advisory and business research organization.

It estimated that the shutdowns, which closed American Motors briefly in addition to GM, chopped more than 300,000 units out of the record production programs scheduled for the fourth quarter of this year.

Value Line's report estimated that 1965 model production will fall to about 7.25 million units, about 10 per cent below the 1964 total.

Business Office Bores Listed

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Bores are where you find them.

The cocktail party is supposed to be the natural habitat of the bore in the United States, but he proliferates in other places, too — the average business office, for example.

If you look around your own office you may find typical of the following indoor bores that make up part of the curse of the working class:

Harry Hoary—Old Harry has been with the company 99 years or so and remembers when he had to ride to work by horseback and fight bears on the way. Harry has kept his jaws so busy telling how tough life was in the old days that he hasn't got around to doing his job since 1947, the year of the big snow.

Perry Parasite — This touring termite circles the office all day stealing whatever he needs — from paper clips to ideas. Whatever he needs to help him get by, he takes from others. He would rather purloin a pencil of your desk than go sharpen one himself. In any decent civilization Perry would be behind bars as a petty larcenist.

Basil Bigears — After Basil was rejected by the CIA, he became the self-appointed office spy. He hangs around the men's washroom and whenever one of the hired hands denounces management because of the poor quality of the paper towels, he runs to the personnel director and informs.

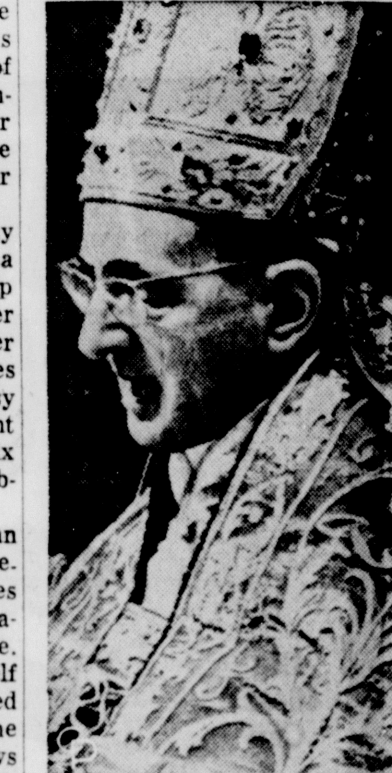

Glenn Heller — This twitchy little dame thinks of herself as a femme fatale. She can't keep her mind on the job, or her hands off the boys. Whenever one of the married men dictates a letter to her, he has an uneasy feeling he is about to be caught in a love nest. But after six months she elopes with a plumb.

J. Morgan Gasser—J. Morgan is a junior executive who has decided honey catches more flies than vinegar—and so does banana oil. His weapon is praise. But instead of making himself popular, J. Morgan is regarded as the biggest creep in the place. Because everyone knows he couldn't be as good as J. Morgan says he is.

Andy Handy—Andy is a hobbyist bore who wants you to share his joy. One week he collects old lampposts, the next week he is learning to make hooked rugs with his teeth. "You can do it, too—it's easy," he says.

Samuel Stonehart — "Chuckling Sam," as the big boss is known behind his back, is the king of tedium for only one reason: Whenever you ask him for a merit raise, he comes up with 12 reasons why he can't give you one, including the fact that if your work doesn't improve the firm may fail within the year.

Do you recognize any of these familiar office bores? If you do, remember one thing. Sometimes it takes one to know one.

"THE POPE is becoming a missionary, which means a apostle, a shepherd, an apostle on the move," Pope Paul announces in Rome in disclosing that he will personally attend the Eucharistic Congress which opens in Bombay, India, Nov. 28.

Little Gal of Golden West Is March of Dimes Child

WHOA! Aboard her pony, Mickey Heinicke, 4, Denver, 1965 National March of Dimes Child, reins in for benefit of photographers.

A blue-eyed lady of four years, known affectionately in her home town of Denver as the "Little Gal of the Golden West," is the 1965 National March of Dimes Child. Her name is Michaeline ("Mickey") Lea Heinicke.

Mickey symbolizes the quarter-million American infants born every year with severe birth defects on whose behalf contributors to the March of Dimes have financed programs of research, medical care and education.

Mickey's mother, Maxine, tells of the tragedy that today befalls one in ten families in the United States.

"Like tens of thousands of other couples, Paul and I were heartbroken and numb when we learned the truth a few days after Mickey was born. I am a nurse, and I had had some experience with babies born with an open spine, which was the case with Mickey. I was under no rosy illusions that this third child of ours would ever walk. "But," asks Maxine, "do you remember that song, 'Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?' The refrain comes back to me everytime I see Mickey walking on her crutches and braces, or furiously riding her hobby horse in the parlor, or doing an Indian war dance to her phonograph records. I say to myself, 'that is my little dream walking.'"

"But my husband and I would never have experienced this real - life dream without March of Dimes help."

Mickey, whose spinal rupture was repaired when she was only three days old, is now midway through a tour that precedes the coast-to-coast March of Dimes campaign in January. Although severely handicapped, this four-year-old thrives on the long days, tedious air-hops between cities, appearances at conventions and the strain of meeting Senators, Congressmen, Generals, stars of stage and screen and other public figures.

Mickey is already a veteran trouper, unimpressed by the mighty in high places. Her mother says, apprehensively: "In January, when we expect to have the privilege of visiting the White House, I know I will faint dead away when Mickey will undoubtedly bubble over to the President, 'Hiya, Podner,' or something awfully familiar and western to the First Lady."

Birth defects are the greatest medical problem threatening the nations children. To help provide patient aid in this

Not so many years ago, the eucalyptus had little money value in its original home, Australia. Now, eucalyptus paper pulp provides one-third of Australian newsprint, and the cut wood goes into flooring, shipplanking, furniture, oars, diving boards, fence posts and tool handles.

News Service Lines Up Vote Analysis

NEW YORK (AP)—Many factors influence a voter when he makes his decision inside an election booth.

Race may be a decisive factor. Another voter may be influenced by his religious teachings, his nationality, where he lives, how much he earns or how far he has gone in school.

A voter may not consciously consider these factors. But each one — or a combination of them — helps determine which lever he will pull or how he will mark his ballot.

Which of these factors will be decisive on Nov. 3?

How will the Negro vote for President Johnson compare with that given John F. Kennedy in 1960? If there's a big difference what's the reason for it?

Will Sen. Barry Goldwater do better — or worse — in high-income areas than Richard M. Nixon did in 1960. And why?

In order to answer such questions—and answer them almost instantly—The Associated Press has entered an agreement with the National Broadcasting Co. to supplement AP's own election interpretives with the network's Electronic Vote Analysis of returns.

The AP will operate a special bureau at EVA election headquarters in New York election night. AP writers will study the material as it comes from the computers and will prepare story material interpreting the vote on a national basis and separately in most of the states.

EVA utilizes a bank of seven computers. These have been programmed to compare results and to answer questions asked by AP and NBC election experts on the presidential, gubernatorial and senatorial races.

The complex will receive information, will compute tabulations and projections, and will report — simultaneously. It will report on high-speed printers.

Each bit of analysis will be based on a mass of detailed information that has been pre-stored in the computers, including vote histories and data on certain "tag areas." The "tag areas" are precincts, wards or counties which have been selected to represent the political behavior pattern of groups within an electorate.

This prestored information, compared with actual returns from specific voting units, will supply comparisons with previous elections and show how the candidates are doing on geographic lines, ethnic lines, by income groups, by race and, in some cases, along religious lines.

The computers also will provide differential analysis, showing any deviation from the norm, as for example, that the eastern states voted differently from another group of states or the country as a whole.

The multimillion-dollar computer system will be fed totals received from reporters in 6,000 specially selected precincts, as well as the vote totals gathered by the new Network Election Service.

Regional centers in New York, Atlanta, Chicago and San Francisco will transmit vote returns by teletype circuit directly into the bank of computers in New York.

Trucker Is Injured In School Bus Crash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Truck driver Lynn Kitzmiller, 25, Columbus, was in poor condition in Mount Carmel Hospital today following the collision of his truck and a school bus.

line. The pupils were not injured.

According to the Ohio Highway Patrol report, the bus was stopped to discharge a passenger and the truck struck the bus in the rear.

History of Nursery Rhymes Presented to Monday Club

Miss Mary Ruth Tolbert was voted to active membership when the Monday Club met in the high school.

Mrs. Jacques Sweeney, president, conducted the business session. Articles made by the blind were sold.

Mrs. John Beck presented a paper entitled, "There Was a Little Girl." She began by saying "My interest in nursery rhymes began when I was a child. I never really lost interest in Mother Goose, but it was renewed when a TV program presented the history of some of the rhymes. That was the first that I ever realized there was a history behind them."

One source of history is from a book by Katherine Elwes Thomas entitled "The Real Personages of Mother Goose" which was published in 1930 and listed the rhymes in chronological order. Mrs. Thomas found

Wooden Ware Products Need Special Care

By ELEANOR ROSS

Everything used in the preparation or serving of food must be kept hygienically clean. This is especially important in regard to wooden ware which is usually porous and therefore tends to "hold" food particles, bacteria and odor.

Contrary to the old chef's tale that wooden bowls and utensils should merely be wiped after use, wooden ware can — and should — be washed in warm suds.

Soaking is the real enemy of wood, because it can cause swelling, cracking and warping; but proper washing can do no harm.

On the other hand, leaving wooden ware unwashed can be very dangerous. Fragments of meat left on a cutting board can breed harmful bacteria, and salad oils clinging to a bowl can easily become rancid.

A stiff-bristled brush (such as one used for vegetables), dipped into hot suds, is an excellent aid in removing encrusted remains imbedded in the deep grooves of hardwood steak and fish planks.

This type of hard scrubbing is perfectly safe for these very durable, oven-proof pieces, because the suds serve to lubricate the brush, and thus prevent surface scratches. Afterwards, rinse briefly under running water, and promptly wipe dry.

Hardwood salad bowls can be briefly immersed in the dishpan or the sink for thorough washing. After quickly sudsing and rinsing, wipe with a towel and let bowls dry in an airy place.

Never put wooden ware away until you are certain it is really dry.

Salad bowls made of soft woods with a glossy finish are best wiped, inside and out, with a cloth or sponge wrung out in warm suds. Next, rinse with a cloth dipped into clean water and then wipe and air-dry.

Always wash salad bowls soon after use, while food and oily drippings are still easy to remove.

Because chopping bowls are usually made of soft woods, and are often used for foods that become "juicy" when chopped, they require special care.

One professional trick is to scrape the convex liner surface lightly with the curved chopping knife. It is just right for the purpose.

When chopping bowls have been used for strong-flavored foods, such as onions, cabbage or fish, it is desirable to air the ware outdoors, if possible, after washing and drying.

Most cutting boards will come clean when scrubbed with dense, hot suds. Rub stubborn stains with a little scouring powder and follow with another sudsing and rinsing.

If there are knife marks, rub

Dear Abby: She Swung and Missed!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating a golf pro for the past six months and he has been giving me golf lessons free of charge. On our third date he asked me to marry him, but said that due to some financial reasons he would have to postpone marrying me for about a year. Hoping to hasten the marriage, I let him have about $500. I just found out that he has been dating another girl and giving her golf lessons for nothing. Now I realize that he was only using me, but I must admit he improved my golf game a lot. I have too much pride to tell our club president, but I would like to get my money back. How?

DUMB BLONDE

DEAR BLONDE: Forget your pride and tell the club president that his golf pro is under par in more ways than one. And don't get so palsy-walsy with professional swingers again unless you can remember to keep your head down and your eye on your purse!

DEAR ABBY: In your reply to "WORN OUT," the mother of 10 who was expecting her 11th, you say, "If it is not contrary to your religion, call your Planned Parenthood Center."

To my knowledge, the Planned Parenthood group is not contrary to ANY religion. If the woman is a Roman Catholic, her local Planned Parenthood group will give her complete instruction in birth control, as approved by her church.

Sincerely, MRS. R.F.C.

DEAR MRS. R.F.C.: You are 100 per cent correct and I thank you for pointing out this important distinction. And while we are on the subject, the Planned Parenthood organization is dedicated to all phases of family planning. They will also help couples who want children, but appear unable to have them.

DEAR ABBY: I guess most of all I just want to get this problem off my chest. My darling mother should and would love to own a pretty wedding ring that she can be proud of. My Dad has given her two cheap sets that she wore completely through on the underside. She's now wearing her mother's plain gold band to show she's married. My father is far from rich, but he could well afford to buy mother a nice wedding ring with a few chip diamonds in it. Mother deserves the ring and she wants one, but she doesn't want to ask him for it. Would it be all right for me (her married daughter) to buy her one?

BIG D FAN

DEAR FAN: If you don't know your father well enough to say, "Look, Dad, Mother wants a nice wedding band, so let's shop for one," then you should get better acquainted with your father. A wedding ring is more than a piece of jewelry, and it's a husband's privilege (an no one else's) to provide his wife with one.

$27.7 Million Budget OK'd By Lutherans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The American Lutheran Church has approved a $23,750,000 budget for 1965, a 4.1 per cent boost over the 1964 budget.

The action came Tuesday as the church wound up its general convention here by approving an expanded program to start new congregations throughout the United States and by adopting pension plan changes which extend major medical benefits to retired clergy and lay workers, their widows and dependents.

The ALC's Board of Pensions said the new coverage for retirees will be the same as provided for active personnel except that it will have a $500 yearly maximum benefit and a total maximum benefit of $2,500 per person.

The convention instructed the ALC's Boards of American Missions and Trustees to seek more funds for the investment and loan fund to establish a much larger number of mission congregations within the next two years. Currently, the church is scheduled to open between 70 and 80 new churches annually.

You can use either a moderate or a hot oven when you are roasting Cornish game hen. Take your choice!

They then down occasionally with sandpaper to restore the smooth surface needed for both efficient cutting and cleanliness. Then give board a quick sudsing rinsing and drying.

Decorative cutting boards make excellent serving trays for canapés or cheese and crackers. When used for actual cutting or chopping, it's wise to use the undecorated side in order to prevent the paint from chipping or flaking.

Kitchen accessories such as rolling pins, pastry boards, spoons and other items may be safely immersed in suds for washing but, like other wooden ware, should not be left to soak.

After rinsing and drying, let these utensils air before putting them away.

Just one added caution about doughy surfaces. Any piece that has been floured, or used for pastry, should be washed off with cool water first — then with the usual warm-to-hot suds and rinses.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) —The lady who always wants to know what Hugh Downs is really like was out raking leaves before 8 o'clock Tuesday morning.

"A new exercise idea?" asked a passerby.

"No," replied the lady, leaning gratefully on her rake. "It's that story in the paper today — the one about the 'tired child syndrome' brought on by too much television watching."

"Those doctors found that some children who were nervous and sleeping and eating poorly were watching television too many hours. Well, the doctors haven't discovered it yet but there is also 'tired adult syndrome' from television and I figure I've got it."

"I worry about the awful hour Hugh Downs has to get up in the morning to do his show. I'm nervous because I can never remember the location of the wild card in Concentration. The troubles of my daytime serial families are so dreadful that I can hardly eat a proper lunch. Now that there's 'Peyton Place' in the evenings, my nightmares are getting worse."

She looked at her pile of leaves and started back to work.

"Until I feel better, I'm kicking the habit," she said resolutely. "Even Dear Lawrence Welk and Mr. Downs. It's going to be a long dull fall."

"Mr. Novak," NBC's weekly dramatic tribute to the school-teachers, took up the delicate subject of high school football fatalities Tuesday night — but walked cautiously all around it without touching the core of the matter.

The plot centered on a tough coach whose star player was killed in a scrimmage. The story then backed away from the problem of injury or death in connection with the sport and concentrated on the coach's reaction.

Recommended tonight: "Dannay Kaye Show," 10-11 EST — with Jose Ferrer and Dorothy Collins as guest stars.

Athens Bank Accused in Wage Case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Officials of the U. S. Department of Labor have filed an injunction suit in U.S. District Court here against the Athens National Bank.

The complaint alleges that the bank failed to pay many employees the applicable minimum wage and the required time and one-half pay rate for hours worked over 40 per workweek since Sept. 18, 1962.

The suit claims that $5,933 in unpaid minimum wages and unpaid overtime compensation has been unlawfully withheld from these employees. The suit also contends that there were violations of the interstate commerce shipping provisions of the law.

The action was taken under the Fair Labor Standards Act by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz through Solicitor of Labor Charles Donahue.

Besides seeking a judgment to permanently enjoin and restrain the defendant from future violations of the law, the court was asked to order payment of the $5,933 in back wages found due these employees.

Federal officials noted that since Sept. 3, 1963, the federal minimum wage for employees engaged in interstate commerce, or in the production of goods for commerce, has been $1.25 an hour. The Fair Labor Standards Act also requires the payment of time and one-half pay rate to these employees for hours worked over 40 per workweek.

Some Giving Jane Fonda Image of Brigitte Bardot

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The nagging question when you see Jane Fonda these days is: Is she becoming another Brigitte Bardot?

Jane's honey-hued locks swirl as hip-length as Brigitte's. Her full lips have a naturally pouty look.

She has been the toast of France for nearly two years.

Even her best beau is Brigitte's ex-husband, Roger Vadim, one of France's top, young new wave film makers.

At 26, Jane is four years younger than Brigitte, who turned 30 this year.

"I don't think I've changed much," says Jane, back in Hollywood to make her first Western, "Cat Ballou." "About the only thing I enjoy now I didn't enjoy two years ago is traveling."

Then her eyes light up as she tells about a recent trip to Moscow.

But basically, Jane is still Jane — an exotic product of childhood as the daughter of a Hollywood star, of Eastern private school training, and of several blossoming years as a star in her own right.

There's another similarity to the old Jane. She still goes for Svengali-like men she can lean on.

Two years ago, it was young

Greek director Andreas Voutsinas. Jane was making "Period of Adjustment" at MGM and going over her lines after work in her Malibu beach house with Andreas.

"He's always around," a co-worker complained at the time, "and she listens to everything he says."

Sometime during the last two years, Andreas faded out of the picture.

Roger is almost always around, too — when he isn't commuting to Paris from Hollywood.

Jane already has appeared in a remake of "La Ronde" which Vadim made in France.

When she finishes "Cat Ballou," Jane and Roger will fly back to France, where she bought a farm house outside Paris near Versailles four months ago.

Will she live there as Jane Fonda or Mrs. Roger Vadim?

"The only roommate I'm going to have is an otter," says Jane. "I'm not going to settle down for a long time."

The first men who flew around the world did it in 10 minutes, the National Geographic says. On May 9, 1926, Richard E. Byrd and Floyd Bennett flew to the North Pole and circled it, crossing all the meridians of longitude in one full turn.

Big State Vote Eyed

Dems Cautiously Favored in Ohio

EDITOR'S NOTE — Ohio provided one of the major surprises of the 1960 presidential race when it handed Republican Richard M. Nixon a substantial majority. Here is a look at the present political situation in Ohio, which has 26 electoral votes.

By PHIL GUNBY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Although most political polls have made President Johnson the favorite to capture Ohio's 26 electoral votes, Republicans and Democrats are both playing it cautiously.

They remember 1960, when most pollsters and many newsmen predicted a Democratic victory because of the enthusiastic welcome given the late John F. Kennedy on his six campaign trips through the Buckeye State.

When the vote-counting started, Ohio produced one of election night's major surprises by giving Kennedy's Republican opponent, Richard M. Nixon, 53.3 per cent of the vote.

Again this year, the Democrats — who have not captured Ohio since 1948 — are favored.

An extensive poll by the Akron

Beacon Journal sees President Johnson taking 54 per cent of what may be a record total of 4,225,000 Ohio votes. The Plain Dealer in Cleveland said in a copyright story Sunday that its poll indicates Johnson will capture about 60 per cent of the state's vote.

President Johnson's supporters, from State Chairman William L. Coleman on down, are saying: "Let's not get overconfident."

Republican State Chairman Ray Bliss has indicated he is not sure who will carry Ohio.

Bliss, known as one who doesn't go all out at the last moment unless he thinks he has a chance to win, has brought in the GOP's heavy artillery of late, including Goldwater, GOP vice presidential nominee William E. Miller, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Nixon.

Late advertising and a whistle-stop tour through the state by Nixon were credited with a large share of the 1960 Republican victory in Ohio.

The Democrats have courted Ohio assiduously. Johnson and his running mate, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, have made repeated trips to Ohio.

Among state candidates, both Republican senatorial candidate Robert Taft Jr., son of the late "Mr. Republican" Robert A. Taft, and incumbent Democratic Sen. Stephen M. Young are supporting their national tickets.

Young has identified himself closely with the Kennedy and Johnson administrations, and most observers think that only a large Johnson victory in the state can pull him through to victory.

Taft is reported to have urged Goldwater privately to concentrate more on specifics. But he emphasized again the other day: "I'm for the whole Republican ticket from Barry Goldwater on down."

Organized labor is so badly behind Johnson.

Goldwater has been trying to woo the labor vote.

About 8 per cent of Ohio's 10.3 million population are Negroes. Republican Negro leaders say they fear a possible boycott or switch by some of the 60,000 registered Negro Republicans.

Next: Illinois.

Court Project Here Headed By Huffer

ROY HUFFER JR.

Roy Huffer Jr., local attorney, has been appointed area chairman of a "Visitor-Violator Project" for local traffic courts. The program is jointly sponsored by the American Bar Assn. and the Ohio State Bar Assn. Motto of the program is "go to traffic court as a visitor — not a violator." The project has a two-fold purpose: to improve the administration of justice and promote traffic safety.

Stephen J. Kovacic Jr. of Cleveland is chairman of the project in Ohio. He has appointed Huffer to serve as chairman for Circleville and the counties of Pickaway, Ross and Pike.

Huffer's objective will be to make arrangements to have citizens see traffic courts in action. These groups will be a cross-section of the community and will be made up of people who will take a responsible attitude toward what they view in court.

THE PROGRAM calls for a meeting at which the citizens group is briefed on the traffic court story, its procedure and responsibilities of judges, attorneys and informed laymen.

Kovacic said good, honest and efficient traffic courts are essential for respect to the judiciary, the legal profession, laws and our system of justice. He labeled it an important key to good citizenship.

Huffer, a Democratic candidate for Pickaway County State Representative, will work in cooperation with area traffic courts. Arrangements will be made to have these groups visit traffic courts in action in response to the motto "go to traffic court as a visitor — not a violator."

Dayton City Court Action Is Halted

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—An appellate court action has prevented Dayton Municipal Court from making official its acquittal of Dayton Daily News reporter Harry L. Kennedy Jr.

The court, presided over by Judge Robert L. Harrington of Van Wert Municipal Court, Tuesday issued a directed verdict of acquittal and dismissed charges against Kennedy of resisting and obstructing police.

After the action, City Law Director Herbert S. Beane asked the 2nd Ohio District Court of Appeals for a writ of prohibition against the Dayton court.

Appellate Court Judge Calvin Crawford reprimanded by ordering the municipal court clerk to refuse all entries in the court journal pertaining to the case until receiving further order from the appellate court. Court actions are not official until entered in the court's journal.

Beane's motion said the court "was clearly outside its jurisdiction" in disqualifying City Prosecutor Henry Phillips, who was removed by Judge Harrington Monday on defense assertions that Phillips was prejudiced toward the case. Judge Harrington also ordered the city to appoint a substitute prosecutor.

Tuesday Phillips asked to be reinstated as prosecutor, but the court refused and also rejected a request by the substitute prosecutor that he be given more time to prepare his case.

Judge Harrington said this amount to the city's refusal to continue with the case and he dismissed the charges.

Kennedy had been accused by

Bold New Anti-Crime Laws Urged

CINCINNATI (AP)—The new dean-elect of the University of Cincinnati Law School, called today for bold new approaches in legislation and law enforcement to counteract what he called the growing skill and sophistication of organized criminals.

Dr. Claude R. Sowle who, at 35, will become the nation's youngest law school dean when he takes over at UC next July 1, spoke at an all-university convocation.

While several states have adopted new and up-to-date criminal codes, Dr. Sowle said, "most of our legislatures generally have not given adequate attention to the resolution of a number of specific, vexing questions posed by certain broader issues basic to the role of the police in a free society — the power to arrest, to search for and seize incriminating evidence, to conduct electronic surveillance, and to interrogate criminal suspects.

"Our police and prosecutors find themselves in their present predicament in the area of organized crime largely because they have failed to dedicate themselves to the difficult, time-consuming, and painstaking task of developing and selling to the leaders of community thought and action a comprehensive, balanced, and effective program aimed at giving law enforcement those tools which our police and prosecutors say are needed."

Ohio Clerics Remain in Dixie Jail

MAGNOLIA, Miss. (AP) — Nine civil rights workers remained in jail today following the arrest of 27 who staged a voter drive demonstration at the Pike County Courthouse.

The sheriff's office said the arrests came as the group, which included seven out-of-state ministers, formed at the courthouse Monday in a "freedom day" voter drive. The sheriff said registration was closed.

The council of federated organizations said the others gained freedom under bond Monday night on money raised within the McComb Negro community.

Bond was set at $100 each. All were charged with trespassing after refusing to leave the courthouse grounds.

Jessee Harris, COFO McComb project director, arrested and later released on bond, said "some don't want to get out of jail until the federal government does something about it."

Sheriff R. R. Warren maintained that the group had been warned earlier that the circuit clerk would be away from his office during court sessions.

Those remaining in the Pike County Jail included representatives of the National Council of Churches and one Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) worker.

Among them were the Rev. Llewellyn Kimmie, director of Westminster Foundation at Ohio University; and The Rev. Tom Foster of Chillicothe, Ohio, an executive of the Committee on Religion and Race of the Presbyterian Synod of Ohio.

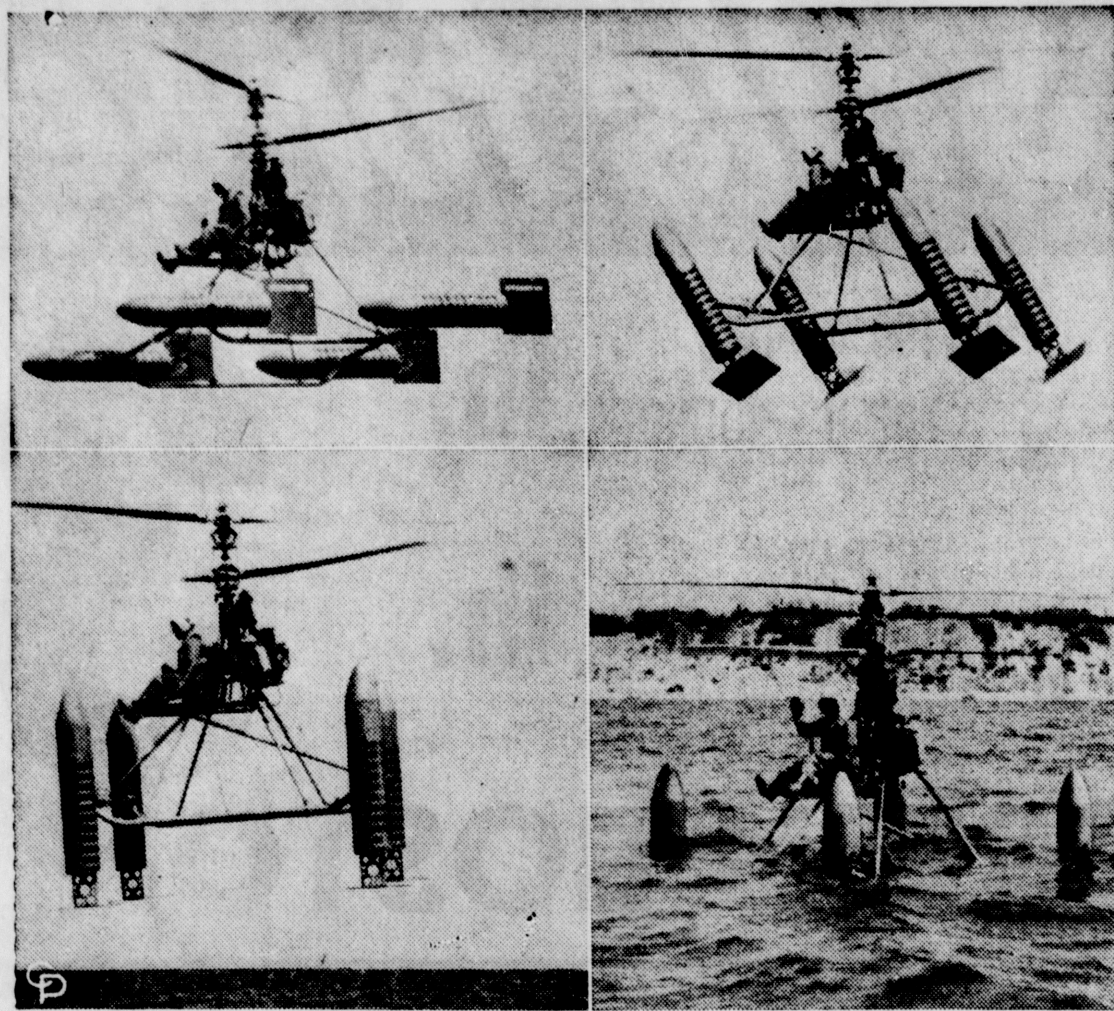

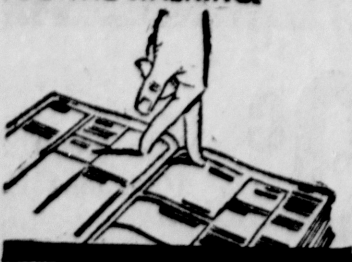

Ohio Unemployment Said at Record Low

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Administrator Willard P. Dudley of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation reported that September's unemployment was the lowest on record at 2.8 per cent of the civilian working force.

Dudley said Ohio's rate was 1.7 per cent below the national unemployment rate of 4.5 per cent. In September 1963, the unemployment rate was 3.7 per cent, he added.

ROUGH SEAS RESCUE—The "tilt float" aircraft, a revolutionary idea conceived by hydrodynamics specialist Eugene Handler of the Bureau of Naval Weapons, is being tested at St. James, Long Island, N.Y. With the new idea, the craft can operate in high seas. Top left the rescue craft has its bullet-shaped floats in a horizontal position for land take-offs and landings; top right, floats are partially tilted for a rough water landing; lower left floats in a vertical position for water landing, and lower right, the pilot waves.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential campaign draws toward a close on Halloween but it sounded a little spooky anyway.

President Johnson, who almost never refers to Sen. Barry Goldwater by name, keeps asking his audiences: "Whose thumb do you want on the button?"

And Goldwater replies with a question: "Do you want one man's thumb on your country, or do you want yours?"

Europeans, reading what the two men say about each other, may get the impression they're cowboys galloping around the rim of disaster.

Goldwater says the nation must chart a new course or commit suicide.

Johnson refers to the Goldwaters as "men who want to veto the future."

The campaign has produced two kinds of words and phrases: the oddball and the rubbery kind. Both men have had a hand in the authorship.

There's the oddball: frontlash, backlash, smearlash and dad-dyism.

The rubbery kind are the words that different people can stretch into different meanings, like peace, corruption, morality, responsibility, freedom.

But one of the most notable features of this almost unnotable campaign is the way the candidates spread fog over the political landscape.

This is accomplished by talking for weeks while spelling out hardly anything in detail.

Johnson talks of extending federal programs without being specific and Goldwater wants to stop the spread of socialism at home and communism broad while not bothering much about that little detail: How?

The President almost without

Out-of-State Students Get Voting Rules

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Out-of-state students aged 21 attending Ohio colleges and universities are "absent voters" of their home communities and cannot vote in Ohio Nov. 3 unless they have established permanent residence in their college town, says Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

He adds that county election boards have been advised to follow Ohio's specific laws on student voting. Such students must vote at home under their states' absent voter laws, Brown states.

The Board of Elections in Franklin County, where Ohio State University is located, says only out-of-state graduate students of the university, who have established permanent off-campus residence in the county, are eligible to register and vote here. A board spokesman said campus dormitory residence is not acceptable.

Brown says each case is considered on its merits by county election boards where universities are located.

Some board members assert that otherwise eligible students think of voting only a few days before the election, often too late to qualify.

exception has deliberately avoided mentioning Goldwater by name while trying to ruin him with the voters.

Goldwater calls Johnson the "most power-hungry man in American politics," had made a theme song of suggesting corruption in the Johnson administration without producing evidence, and says, "When immorality occurs, it always starts at the top."

Yet, when some youngsters booed the mention of Johnson, Goldwater chided them: "Please, do not boo the President. It is not ladylike or gentlemanlylike."

Within less than a day after calling the President a "phony" and a "faker," Goldwater said he would wage the campaign solely on the issues without any personal attack.

But he went on from there to say "the shadow of scandal falls ... across the White House, itself," referred to Johnson as "whitewash Lyndon ... the medicine man," called his antipov-erty program "cynical" and accused him of "buying votes."

Before he ever got the presidential nomination Johnson said, "I am not going to start passing personal opinions on the expressions of the other party."

Later he was calling Goldwater, without naming him, a "ranting, raving demagogue," described him as the "new and frightening voice of the Republican party" and suggested by implication his opponent was a "plucked banty rooster" with a "plastic credit card."

If voters get goosepimples from all this, they can get their blood circulating again by climbing on their brooms and flying off to the election polls next Tuesday.

Dreamer Lands Solid Lefthook

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — That was a real wild dream that O. Knox Kling of Des Moines had the other night.

In the dream, a man was making objectionable remarks to Mrs. Kling in a restaurant. Kling objected, the man swung at him, Kling ducked, and landed a solid left.

Then Kling awoke. His left hand hurt, and then he realized he had banged it into a night stand.

An X-ray the next day showed a fracture of a knuckle on the left hand. Kling had to have a cast, and a brace extending almost to the elbow.

TO: The Farmers of Ohio

Where I DO Stand on AGRICULTURE

—Barry Goldwater

"LET ME make myself absolutely clear. I know, as you do, that the mistakes of the past cannot be corrected overnight. And I will never try to correct them overnight."

"We must honor commitments already made by the Federal Government. We must keep faith with those who have made plans and acquired property on the basis of those commitments."

"We must have the good sense to move slowly in making changes, so that the citizens of this nation — and indeed, the economy itself — can make smooth adjustments, adjustments that will cause nobody harm. Above all, we must not scrap existing programs until we are sure we have something better to substitute for them."

"We all want a free and prosperous American agriculture, with a minimum of Federal controls and intervention. That is the direction in which we must move — forward, toward freedom and progress."

"Farmers must be freed from the menacing control over their lives. And, they must be freed from the cost-price squeeze on them."

"My Secretary of Agriculture will be a man with experience in farming, a man who knows what it's like to plow a furrow and to have dirt on his hands. My Secretary and I will seek out the advice of farmers and farm organizations across the country to find ways to make a sound and healthy transition away from controls in each particular sector hampered by them. We will be guided by one goal and one goal alone: to ease away controls while keeping full faith with the farmers."

"I will never jerk the rug from under the American farmer."

"There are just no simple solutions to the mess that has been created by growing controls in agriculture. We must seek the best ways open to us to bridge the gap between the controlled agriculture we now have and the free agriculture we must move toward."

"I pledge, as I have pledged before, my whole-hearted support for cooperatives owned and operated by farmers. I stand firmly with the Republican platform in this pledge."

"My administration will dedicate itself to promoting a free and prosperous American agriculture. We will do this by encouraging research to create new industrial uses for farm products. We will do this by encouraging the expansion of markets throughout the free world."

Politics in Ohio

CLEVELAND (AP)—The undecided voter will decide if Sen. Barry M. Goldwater will carry Ohio in next Tuesday's presidential election, state Republican chairman Ray C. Bliss said Tuesday.

Bliss commented on Goldwater's strength in Ohio after the GOP presidential candidate spoke to nearly 12,000 at a GOP rally at Public Hall. Bliss said his private polls show a larger than normal segment of undecided voters in Ohio with less than a week until Election Day. It is even higher than in the 1960 campaign, Bliss said, and added, "That's as far as I will go."

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater was wrong in his charge that the Johnson administration is soft on Communism, R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and head of the War on Poverty program, said here Tuesday night.

Shriver, speaking at a Knights of Columbus dinner here Tuesday night, noted that Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, voted against the civil rights and tax cut bills, both of which Shriver said are "effective anti-Communist measures."

CLEVELAND (AP) — U. S. Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) told student groups at Fenn College and John Carroll University Tuesday that Rep. Robert Taft Jr., is "trying to carry water on both shoulders" by posing as a moderate in northern Ohio and as a "Goldwater extremist" in southern Ohio. "But if you look closely that's Goldwater he's carrying," the senator added.

Taft, Ohio Congressman at-large, is the Republican nominee for U.S. Senator, opposing Young's re-election bid.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Oliver P. Bolton, R-Ohio, says the United States should call upon the new leaders in Russia for free elections and the removal of troops from the captive nations of eastern Europe.

Speaking at a Republican rally here Tuesday night, Ohio's 11th District Congressman, who is a candidate for Congressman at-large, said the people of the captive nations are looking to this country for new initiative and leadership. "We may never have a better opportunity to Wilson's cherished right of self-determination than at the present time," he declared.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of health, education and welfare, said Tuesday Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and his running mate, Rep. William Miller "have done their best to muddy the waters" in the campaign.

"We can choose between moving forward or turning back; between building a great society as envisaged by President Johnson or tearing down that society; between reasonable and sane leadership in national affairs or an irrational, reckless, approach," Celebrezze said in support of Johnson.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be in Cincinnati today and will make a "major foreign policy address."

National Republican chairman Dean Burch said the address will be on behalf of the Republican Party and will be carried over the NBC network from 3:30 to 4 p.m.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Benjamin Spock has taken to the political trail in support of Sen. Stephen M. Young and the noted child care specialist does not consider it alien to his field.

Spock said here Tuesday that the Democratic senator was one of the first to voice approval for the nuclear test ban treaty. The physician said he is "gravely concerned with the danger to future generations of children from nuclear testing." Spock is a faculty member of Cleveland's Western Reserve University.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sen. Barry M. Goldwater was described as a "political dropout" Tuesday by Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who said he was here on a "fact mission" rather than serving as a one-man "truth squad."

"Goldwater has dropped out of the mainstream of Republican politics," said the son of the late president who is undersecretary of commerce. "He has dropped out of the progressive pattern of this nation in the past 32 years. And he has dropped out of the future by clinging to the past." Roosevelt was at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport to answer Sen. Goldwater's speech here.

Ottoville Bank Thug Suspect Is Arrested

OTTAWA, Ohio (AP)—A Michigan man was apprehended in South Bend, Ind., late Tuesday night and has admitted the $35,000 robbery of the Ottoville Bank of Putnam County, Sheriff James Ruhe reported.

Ruhe said George Austin Carpenter, believed to be in his late 20s, was arrested by South Bend detectives and FBI agents at a car rental garage after setting up a stake-out on information from Ruhe.

Ruhe said Carpenter, of Bangor, Mich., was investigated by his office last Thursday when bank employees became suspicious while he was trying to open a checking account. Ruhe said he obtained the license number of Carpenter's car and learned it came from a South Bend rental agency.

Tuesday, just at the 3 p.m. opening time, the holdup man entered the bank, Ruhe said. Four employees and a customer were in the bank at the time. Ruhe said the robber waited until the customers left and then pulled a gun on the employees, ordering one of them to lock the door.

He then bound and gagged the employees, Ruhe said, and waited until 3:38 when a time-clock operated vault opened. The robber took $30,000 from the vault and another $5,000 from the teller drawers, then fled, Ruhe said.

Trunk Murder Evidence Is Given to Grand Jury

CINCINNATI (AP)—Authorities began presenting evidence today in the Wanda Cook murder case to the Hamilton County grand jury in an attempt to get an indictment against Robert Abbott, 21, Dayton, Ky.

The evidence now includes a .22 caliber, six-shot white-handled revolver, which police believe might have been the murder weapon.

Hamilton County prosecutor Raymond Shannon said the gun "is another link in the total chain of evidence."

Abbott, in jail in Newport, Ky., has been charged by police with first degree murder. He has refused to waive extradition to Ohio and an indictment must be returned before extradition proceedings can be initiated against him.

Sannon said several witnesses are to appear before the grand jury, including Miss Alice Ewing, 22, Fort Thomas, Ky., the fiancée of Abbott. She and Dr. Lester Adelson, pathologist from Cleveland, are slated to testify Thursday.

Miss Ewing, a Navy reservist, is charged with illegal removal of the body and is free on $500 bond pending a hearing Nov. 7. She has admitted she removed the body of Miss Cook from the Sheraton-Gibson Hotel and shipped it in a trunk from Cincinnati to Cleveland. The body was found Oct. 21 in the Cleveland Railroad Terminal. Miss Cook, 24, was a nurse and lived in Bellevue, Ky.

The .22 caliber revolver was recovered from Prisoner's Lake in Devou Park, Covington, Ky.

Police said a Newport, Ky., service station attendant, Edward Eager, identified the gun as the one he sold "five or six weeks ago" to Abbott and Miss Ewing.

Abbott and Miss Ewing have both denied the slaying.

Miss Cook was shot twice in the head. She was believed slain Oct. 15 or 16 in a room in the hotel.

BACK HOME—French President Charles de Gaulle returns to greetings by members of his government in Paris as he ends his 26-day tour of South America.

Cincinnati's Hear Hubert Rip Barry

CINCINNATI (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey spent about two hours in Cincinnati Tuesday night, but wasted little time in ripping into the Republicans in his rapid-fire manner.

Humphrey spoke to about 1,000 persons at a $25-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner in honor of President Johnson.

The Democratic vice presidential nominee's appearance came about two weeks after a similar, two-hour campaign visit here by President Johnson.

"The American people do not want Barry Goldwater's finger on the nuclear trigger," Humphrey said of the GOP presidential nominee.

"In no area is the difference between President Johnson and Sen. Goldwater greater than on the question of responsibility in the field of international affairs," he said.

"In no area are Sen. Goldwater's views more dangerous to the safety and welfare of all mankind," Humphrey added.

Humphrey said "the area of the fast draw and the quick solution in foreign affairs is over. It died at Hiroshima, when the atomic bomb was detonated in 1945."

"The area of long twilight struggle is here. The awesome question facing every American on Nov. 3 is this:

"Do you want a president who will devote his enormous energies toward leading us through that twilight struggle to the dawn of a brighter day for free men everywhere?"

"Or do you want a candidate who casually accepts the possibility that that twilight will suddenly be lit up by the blinding flash of nuclear holocaust?" Humphrey asked.

Logan Elm, Westfall Play Scioto Conference Games

LOGAN ELM TRI-CAPTAINS — Logan Elm's three captains are, left to right: Rick Shaw, Jeff Lutz and Bob Stant. The Braves travel to Piketon Friday for a game that will decide the Scioto Valley Conference football championship.

Both Pickaway County members of the Scioto Valley Conference have league games this week.

Logan Elm travels to Piketon in the key conference game of the year. Westfall will host Paint Valley.

Both the Braves and the Pike County Red Streaks are undefeated. Piketon can clinch the title with a win since the league game the Red Streaks had with Laurelville has been forfeited by the Wildcats.

Logan Elm will be assured of at least a tie if the Braves can bring home a victory from Piketon. Only a game with Paint Valley will then stand between them and the undisputed title.

PIKETON will field the most point productive and the fastest backfield that Logan Elm has ever faced. Aces Larry Hall, Earl Willson, Don Cook and Denny LeMaster, along with quarterback Ralph Doughitt, have paced the Red Streaks to over 49 points per game.

All are returning veterans from the team that handed Logan Elm two defeats last year and won the SVC crown. Also back is Conference Coach of the Year, Ron Jones, to lead the explosive Red Streaks.

Logan Elm's forte in seven games this year has been a staunch defense.

The Braves have shut out four teams, including Amanda-Clearcreek, 30-0; Sheridan, 24-0; Frazeysburg, 24-0; and Westfall, 30-0.

Although Laurelville scored 20 points against the Braves in the season opener, the tallies all came with the varsity defense sitting on the bench.

Teays Valley's score in a 22-6 ball game came on an intercepted pass.

HOWEVER, last week the unscored on first string defense permitted a pair of touchdowns by Unioto. In all games, Logan Elm has averaged just over 31 points per game while limiting opposition to 5.7 points per game.

They have played a pair of common foes in Westfall and Unioto.

Olympic Cager In Pro Debut

Jackson Avoids Hassle in Tilt

NEW YORK (AP) — Lucious Jackson must have brought some of that Olympic goodwill back from Tokyo with him.

Jackson, the 6-foot-9 star of the U.S. basketball championship game victory over Russia last week, exhibited peace-loving tendencies in his first National Basketball Association game Tuesday night.

They came during a fight that erupted between Jackson's Philadelphia teammate, Dave Gambee, and St. Louis' Charley Vaughan. When Gambee and Vaughan started swinging at each other at one end of the court, players from both benches rushed to join in.

Not Jackson, though. "I was standing there keeping more guys from getting on the pile," the 240-pounder explained afterward "I was watching."

That was about the only time during the game, though, that Jackson just stood around watching.

The rookie from Pan American College made his presence felt, particularly under the boards in Philadelphia's 100-81 victory over the previously undefeated Hawks. Boston crushed New York 131-103 in the second game of the doubleheader.

Jackson scored only 10 points but grabbed 14 rebounds, high in the contest.

The undefeated Celtics completely crushed the Knickerbockers as Sam Jones scored 27 points in the first half. He wound up with 30 in all. Boston, winning its fifth game, jumped to a 29-6 margin in the first 6½ minutes of play. Willis Reed led the Knicks with 20 points.

In the only other game played, the San Francisco Warriors won their first game of the season, defeating the Baltimore Bullets 101-90 at Oakland. Nate Thurmond sparked the Warriors with 28 points and 37 rebounds. Don Ohl and Bailey Howell were high for the Bullets with 21 points each.

Southern Cal QB Is Back of Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Craig Fertig, quarterback for the University of Southern California Trojans, was named Back of the Week today by The Associated Press.

Fertig threw four touchdown passes and over-all completed 21 of 28 passes for 371 yards in a 26-21 victory over California last Saturday as the Trojans bounced back from their defeat at the hands of Ohio State the previous week.

In the last two minutes of play Fertig completed six straight passes for 95 yards, the last for 22 yards and the winning TD. In addition he averaged 37.6 yards on punts.

have met a common foe in Piketon. Paint Valley was defeated, 32-0.

Although Elsea feels his grid-ders have improved "immeasurably" since the first game, he is quick to point out the Bear-cats have undoubtedly become better with experience.

Another AAU-NCAA Duel Starting To Take Shape

NEW YORK (AP) — The skirmishing has started and the first major shot is expected next week, now that the Olympics have ended, an end that also terminated the AAU-NCAA truce so carefully forged by the late Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"There are no more rules," an NCAA spokesman told The Associated Press Tuesday, "not unless the government steps in again. I think it's safe to say that something more than talk is going to happen."

At stake in the fight, which was recessed after the late President Kennedy asked Gen. MacArthur to step in, is control of amateur athletics in this country. The major participants are the Amateur Athletic Union and the various sports federations fostered by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The federations cover track and field, gymnastics, basketball and wrestling.

"The track and field federation is the one," the NCAA source said. "The gymnasts, the wrestlers pretty much go their own way. The AAU isn't concerned. Basketball becomes an issue only in an Olympic year." "So the track and field federation will be the first to test its strength, a test has undoub-

Browns Low In Data, High In Standings

NEW YORK (AP) — Ninth in team offense and last in team defense.

Those aren't terribly impressive credentials but they don't bother the Cleveland Browns. As long as they're first in the National Football League's Eastern Division, they couldn't care less.

The Browns, who took undisputed possession of the lead after whipping New York 42-20 last Sunday, also are last in ball control plays. So how come they're leading their division?

For one thing they've scored more points than anybody else in the league except Baltimore and points, not statistics, win ball games.

If the Browns had to depend on the statistics, they'd be in trouble. Their 2,462 yards allowed is almost 200 yards more than any other club has surrendered. Their 1,971 yards gained leads only five other NFL clubs.

Cleveland has run only 381 ball control plays on offense, the fewest for any team in the league. Ball control plays are described as pass attempts and rushes. Punts and field goals—plays where the ball is voluntarily surrendered—are not included.

The Browns have scored 184 points, second only to the Colts 237.

Baltimore leads the Western Division.

Yank Likes Japan Brand of Baseball

WAYNOKA, Okla. (AP) — Big Joe Stanka, who left the Chicago White Sox after the 1961 season because his proffered contract wasn't too good, earns around $35,000 a year playing baseball in Japan and says he would not like to be in the sport in the United States now.

Stanka, 6-foot-5 and red haired, pitched his Nankai Hawks to the Japanese World Series championship. He started four games in the series and won three, all shutouts.

"There are six teams in our league and three of them are in Osaka where we live," he said, explaining why he likes to play ball in Japan. "I'm home most of the time. Also, pitch one night, then I'm off until I start again. I don't pitch in relief."

Tony Oliva, Minnesota Twin outfielder, is the first Cuban ever to win a major league batting title. He led the American League this year with .323.

CYSTIC MASTITIS

Q. I have heard that cystic mastitis (my friend has it) is a form of cancer. Is this true?

A. No. Cystic mastitis (cyst formation in the ducts of the breast) is a non-cancerous disease. This is not to say, however, that the condition should be ignored. In fact, frequent, periodic examinations are advisable for those who have cystic mastitis. Very often the doctor will choose to withdraw (aspirate) the contents of larger cysts. It's a simple procedure that can be done in the office.

LOSS OF BALANCE

Q. My sister, who is 65, has no sense of balance. Would you please explain what causes this and what medication to take?

A. Extreme dizziness or loss of balance may be due to any of several disorders, all of which are serious and must be dealt with by a physician. Unsteadiness may be the result of a stroke or of damage to the organ of balance located within the inner ear. Persistent dizziness may also be due to chronic inflammation and fluid accumulation in the inner ear. Persons affected in this way should receive a complete evaluation by a physician.

Remember — the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Today's drugs, in terms of relief from pain and swift recovery from illness, are priceless... yet their cost is mere pennies per dose.

problem a lot, and they have put out a lot of stories about what has happened. But I believe that I would rather have a Negro stand beside me on an assembly line than to stand behind them in a soup line."

The President said, "We are not going to say that the good Lord intended that the tall men should be treated different than the short men or that the white men should be treated different from the black men or the brown men, because if we do, we are outnumbered, . . . throughout the world."

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater said today President Johnson "kidnaped the Democratic party" for eventual delivery to Socialists when he chose Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate.

The Republican nominee for the White House hammered away at his charge that Johnson is hungry for power, and accused the President of trying to frighten people into voting for him.

"I charge," the Arizona senator said, "that the Johnson machine is driven by lust for power, by fear of the exposure of wrongdoing in high places, by fear of punishment and by hope of special privilege."

Goldwater alternated between defense and attack in a speech prepared for a rally at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. It kicks off a day of Midwestern vote-hunting that will take him also to Oshkosh, Wis., and East St. Louis, Ill.

Johnson, he said, "has failed to arouse real grass roots support for his candidacy."

Goldwater declared Republicans have that kind support, and said the backing of small newspapers and of "close to one million" small contributors demonstrate it.

The senator said of Johnson: "He has the support of many traditional Democrats who accept his party label, without looking beyond it to see that in handpicking Hubert Humphrey as his successor he has kidnapped the Democratic party — tied it up in a neat bundle for eventual delivery to the Americans for Democratic Action, the most effective radical socialist organization in the land."

Goldwater had been chopping away at Humphrey all week. "Every time I think of the small possibility that the President might be re-elected, I shake," he said in London, Ky., Tuesday. "But when I think of Hubert, I really get the trembles."

Goldwater complained that Johnson has "the support of many good and honest people who, even though they are heartsick at the moral blackout in the Johnson administration, nevertheless have been swayed by one of the most immoral actions of all — the big lies of the administration."

He said Johnson misrepresents his positions, and will not debate campaign questions.

In Cleveland Tuesday night, Goldwater tackled the question of civil rights, arguing that the busing of schoolchildren from one neighborhood to another for the sake of racial balance is "doctrinaire and misguided egalitarianism."

That drew a wild ovation from a crowd estimated at 12,000 — in a city which has seen rioting over the issue.

Renewing a theme he has underscored on nationwide television, Goldwater added: "Our aim, as I understand it, is neither to establish a segregated society nor to establish an integrated society. Our aim is to preserve a free society."

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey came into this land of blue grass — where civil rights has been an issue — and declared today that there are those now who would set brother against brother and race against race.

Recalling that Kentuckians fought on both sides of the Civil War, Humphrey said in his prepared remarks that once again "there is abroad in the land some of the same reckless, heedless temper which dragged Kentucky and the nation into conflict" a century ago.

There are people in this election year, said Humphrey, "who would set brother against brother, class against class, race against race, state against state, region against region."

But, he added, Kentucky and the nation "has seen the folly of such a course."

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee flew into Lexington early this morning after a long day's campaigning in New York, Charleston, W. Va., and Cincinnati, Ohio.

All along the way he hammered at the theme of responsibility in a turbulent, swift changing world, and declared that one overriding issue has emerged in this campaign — that "the American people do not want Barry Goldwater's finger on the nuclear trigger."

LA CROSSE, Wis. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller says President Johnson is using "arm-twisting, politically paralyzing techniques" including defense contracts to lure the support of businessmen.

The Republican vice-presidential nominee charged Tuesday night that Johnson was arranging "the political wedding of big business, big labor and big government" and said this was the same concentration of power that destroyed freedom in Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy.

"The balance of power so essential to a free society had been eliminated" in those two nations, Miller said, "and the people had no effective voice."

In drawing a parallel between developments under Johnson and those under the dictators Hitler and Mussolini, Miller delivered one of the strongest of his campaign attacks on the Democratic President.

News of World in Brief

GAMBIER, Ohio (AP) — Students of Kenyon College, voting in a mock election Tuesday, supported President Johnson over Sen. Barry Goldwater but voted 67.7 per cent for Republican Robert Taft Jr. in Ohio's senatorial race over Kenyon alumnus Democratic incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young.

A wholesale "jumping" of party affiliation was indicated in the balloting which gave President Johnson 52.5 per cent of the vote. Of those who balloted, 34.6 were registered Democrats and 49.3 registered Republicans. A total of 79.9 per cent of the student body voted.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ben Cowall, Columbus promoter, was named today as an assistant to Edward J. (Jeff) Keirns, state fair manager, with the appointment effective Nov. 1.

Cowall will be paid "between $9,000 and $10,000 a year," Keirns said. His duties will be "promotion, sale of tickets, booking of grandstand attractions, and handling of special coliseum events."

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Workers of the Logan Clay Products Co. and its affiliate, Logan Foundry and Machine Co., have turned down representation by the United Brick and Clay Workers Union (AFL-CIO) for the third time.

SPAULDING, England (AP) — Jack East, 84, got a birthday present Tuesday from Frank Tohill, landlord of the 300-year-old Pigeon Inn. The present was a barrel of beer.

Jack said he had his first drink of beer at the Pigeon Inn on his 19th birthday.

"I've done my drinking here ever since."

Landlord Tohill commented: "Over the years, Jack has spent about $39,200 on beer. Why, that's enough to have bought the pub. A present of a barrel of beer is as little as we can do."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren refused today to stay effectiveness of an order that Virginia must reappoint both houses of its General Assembly by Dec. 15. The order, issued by a special three-judge federal court in Alexandria, Va., cut the terms of incumbent state senators to two years and called for a special election before January 1966.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The World Bank today formally signed its first loan in the field of education — providing the University of Philippines with $6 million to expand and equip its School of Agriculture as a training center for Asian students and technicians.

Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, who signed the 30-year loan both for the Philippine government and the university, said the funds would not only help in the realization of the Philippine national development program but at the same time serve the needs of the emerging societies in Asia. Romulo is president of the university.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Patrick Gordon Walker, new British foreign secretary, says his government favors asking Red China to join the Geneva disarmament talks next year.

PARIS (AP) — The government of Premier Georges Pompidou early today survived a Socialist attempt to censure its agricultural policies. The motion got only 209 of the necessary 242 votes.

TOKYO (AP) — Ma Ching-shan, Nationalist Chinese Olympic marksman who defected last Friday, is aboard a Japanese freighter scheduled to leave Thursday for Communist China.

Ma, 38-year-old retired Nationalist army officer, went aboard the Shinho Maru today in Osaka. A heavy police guard was posted around the vessel.

JUDGE AMMER WAS TOLD . . .

"Lawyers of Cleveland Have Commented Most Favorably on the Manner In Which You Have Performed Your Duties..."

The Honorable Arthur H. Day, Chief Justice of the Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court in Cleveland, said that in a letter to Judge William Ammer of Circleville. Judge Day also is a former judge of Ohio's Supreme Court and is one of the state's most highly respected jurists.

Judge Day's complete statement, dated Oct. 14, 1963, long before this election campaign began, was as follows:

"We of the Common Pleas Court of Cuyahoga County are deeply grateful to you for your assistance in helping us with our heavy docket during the course of your assignment here by the Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court.

"I am happy to report that a number of trial lawyers of Cleveland have commented most favorably on the manner in which you performed your duties. We agree.

"I do hope that the Chief Justice will again give us the benefit of your excellent services."

Judge William Ammer was humbly honored by Judge Day's appraisal of his work. Judge Ammer also is proud that the Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court has chosen him to preside in 10 Ohio counties — besides Pickaway — ranging from the state's largest to its smallest. Out-of-county assignments PROVIDED BY LAW (Sec. 2503.04 Ohio Revised Code).

Lawyers of Circleville and Pickaway County also have been well pleased with Judge Ammer's handling of Common Pleas Court. AN UNOFFICIAL POLL SHOWS 18 OUT OF 23 LAWYERS HERE WANT JUDGE AMMER RE-ELECTED.

Out of 3,195 cases he's handled here, ONLY THREE HAVE BEEN REVERSED BY THE APPEALS COURT. NO DECISION BY JUDGE AMMER HAS EVER BEEN UPSET BY THE OHIO SUPREME COURT.

These are reasons why you should . . .

Re-Elect Judge Ammer
